

PICTURE BOOK MONTH

PICTURE BOOK MONTH

PICTURE BOOK MONTH

Read November Share Celebrate!

Some picture books are so magical, they define childhood. –Dianne de Las Casas

People need three things to survive – food, shelter, and wonder. –Elizabeth O. Dulemba

Picture books heal. No matter your age. –Katie Davis

Picture books are our first love with stories, our first joys of sharing stories, our first tools for learning to read, and our first appreciation of humor and comic timing. –Samantha Berger

Read November Share Celebrate!

I have always believed that literature begins in the cradle. We humans are the only creatures in the known universe who make and remake our world with story. –Jane Yolen

Picture books only require two things: a reader and a listener. Together, you have magic. –Tammi Sauer

A child can have too many toys, but never enough books. –Jarrett Krosoczka

Picture books are family touch points. They are priceless memories in dust jackets, ready to be pulled off the shelf any time we get the urge to relive them. –Laura Backes

Read November Share Celebrate!

With a picture book, the child becomes co-creator. This is how dreams are born and leaders are grown. –Anastasia Suen

A picture book is a voice for the voiceless, for the broken, the discarded, the forgotten. Yes, the picture book is a gift. A gift of truth. –Floyd Cooper

But if you really want more curious, intelligent, creative children in the world, then go ahead and give them picture books. –Peter Brown

glue here